SECTION-A

1. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follows :

Lakshadweep, the coral paradise of India, is the tiniest but the most fascinating Union Territory of India in the lap of the Arabian sea. Its southernmost island is Minicoy, which is a unique island full of specialities. The famous European traveller Macro Polo (AD 1254-1324) in his travelogue made a reference to Minicoy as "the island of females perhaps due to majority of its inhabitants being females and their predominant role in every walk of life.

Though the language of the Lakshadweep archipelago is a variant of Malayalam, the language spoken in Minicoy is entirely different from Malayalam or any other language of our country and is called Mahi, written in a peculiar script called 'Divehi Thanna'. The most interesting to note is that, there is hardly any mention of this language on the linguistic map of India.

Questions:

- (i) A reference to woman's land is made in this passage. what is its name? who made its reference?
- (ii) Where is Lakshadweep island situated?
- (iii) What two special features of Lakshadweep are given in this passage?
- (iv) What type of language is spoken in Lakshadweep?
- (v) Why is Minicoy known as the island of females? Give two reasons.
- (vi) Which language is spoken in Minicoy? What is noteworthy about it?

2. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below in your own words:

Television is changing people's lives quite dramatically. They are sleeping less, reading less, communicating less with their families. In a countrywide survey, a tenth of television viewers have admitted that the care of children and elderly is getting neglected. While television has contributed to the popularity of games and sports, ironically enough, children have reported that they play less.

Television has increased the general knowledge of children, in particular their knowledge of various products being advertised. The survey shows that hardly any children are watching any educational programme. The parents interviewed said their children's studies were affected. Many parents have cut off cable TV to reduce the distraction for the children.

Questions:

- (i) Why do parents feel that their children's studies are affected while television is increasing their general knowledge?
- (ii) What changes do we notice in the lives of the people under the influence of television?
